v.

Defendants.

ORDER

Before the court is Defendants' Receiver's Application for Approval of Agreement between Receiver and Washington College of Law (#114¹). Plaintiff the Federal Trade Commission ("FTC") has filed a non-opposition (#115).

On December 27, 2011, the court approved a Stipulated Final Judgment and Order for Permanent Injunction ("Final Order") in this case (#108). The Final Order appointed Defendants' Receiver, Aviva Y. Gordon, and charged the Receiver with returning documents to Defendants' former customers. In part, the Final Order provided that "[w]ith Court approval, the Receiver may retain other professionals to perform" tasks relating to the Receiver's duties. (Final Order #108, p. 9:21-22.)

The Receiver now asks the court's approval to retain Washington College of Law to (1) identify and contact Defendants' former customers, (2) return to each customer their original

1 documents as defined in the Final Order, (3) protect the customers' privacy interests with respect to
2 these documents, and (4) shred any unreturned document. (See Motion for Approval #108, Ex. 1, p.
3 1.) The proposed agreement between the Receiver and Washington College of Law also provides 4 that, "[b]udget and time permitting," the College of Law may place customers who request legal 5 assistance with the College's Immigrant Justice Clinic or other appropriate pro bono representation.

7 In its non-opposition, the FTC finds that the proposed agreement conforms to the 8 requirements of the Final Order. Having conducted a review of the agreement, the court agrees that 9 the proposed agreement is appropriately related to the Receiver's obligation to "identify and contact
10 each [of Defendants'] customer[s] and, to the extent feasible, to return original documents." (Final 11 Order #108, p. 9:6-7.)

12 IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED that the Receiver's Application for Approval of 13 Agreement between Receiver and Washington College of Law (#114) is GRANTED.

14 IT IS SO ORDERED.

15 DATED this 30th of May, 2013.
